WFCC showcases the vigor and vitality of classical music to 21st century audiences. It's the next generation of classical music programming ... a bright, modern approach to classical music for the classical music aficionado as well as the casual listener.

“Why do we continue to use classical orchestras in Broadway productions and movie soundtracks? The music is capable of deep emotional expression that transcends the centuries and social boundaries.”

– Terry Blackburn

“Classical music always had a great influence on me. In fact some of my songs have a classical theme in mind.”

– Billy Joel

“What is classical music if not the epitome of sensuality, passion, and understated erotica that popular music, even with all of its energy and life, cannot even begin to touch?”

- Lara St. John

“Classical music represents an incredible tradition and some truly awesome expressions of the human spirit. There really is something to the cliché about music that “has stood the test of time.” There’s a reason we still play the works of Beethoven today.”

- Paul Helfrich
